2013 AKMS Junior Faculty Consortium

The Association of Korean Management Scholars (AKMS) is pleased to announce the biennial Junior Faculty Consortium at the 2013 Annual Meeting of the Academy of Management (AoM). The junior faculty consortium (JFC) is intended for untenured faculty members to develop the skills needed to achieve their career objectives.

The main purpose of both meetings is to develop research networks and build an academic community among management scholars from the U.S., Korea, and other countries. Specifically, the JFC will focus on three areas:
a) how to develop your research for publication and how to navigate the review process;
b) how to develop strategies for impact and growth as an international scholar and teacher, and
c) how to build a successful academic career in diverse settings.

The participants will have a chance to interact with and learn from a panel of senior management scholars and diverse peers through panel discussions and informal conversations. Second, the annual meeting will be hosted by AKMS executive members and invited panelists.

Event Details:
- Date / time / location: Sunday August 11, 2013 / 1:30 to 3:30 PM / WDW Swan Resort, Swan 6

- Who can register: Pre-tenure AKMS members who are currently teaching as faculty (or will start teaching in the Fall of 2013)
